Fathers and Sons

From either the contemplation of abstract phases of life, or the din and bustle of ordinary affairs, it is refreshing to turn to an occasion of robust, brotherly companionship such as is called forth by the association of fathers and sons in the annual observance of Father and Son Week.

There is much philosophizing on the Brotherhood of Man, much dogmatizing on the Fatherhood of God, but all is meaningless without a proper appreciation of the vital relationship between the individual father and the individual son.

No more congenial field for development can be given a boy in which he may discover the true relationships which should exist in life than in the atmosphere of an understanding father's influence. And what interest of vast import in a very few years (time depend on the impressions obtained in early youth).

A lone strident has been made from the days when the old woodcock interview was about the only occasion on which a father became intimate with his son and summed up the then acknowledged position of the father as judge and disciplinarian, and that only, with scarce a thought more devoted to the boy's welfare than to see he was home when required and out of sight the rest of the time. We are thankful that today we can point to the fellowship of father and son in contacts running throughout all the family activities, in many interests of the community and reaching out to things Provincial and even Dominion-wide.

To what may we attribute this change? In a large measure it is due to a keener appreciation of all the aptness and truth of the poet's statement that "the boy is father to the man." The fathers realize it in the wise passage of time, daily clipping the opportunities for them to precept and inspire their sons in greater times than they themselves have had and in the urgency of fulfilling their privileged duty of leading out their boys toward a true sense of values.

The sons realize it in the urge to look beyond the present to that dim line which forever beckons to youth—the time of the realization of their powers and possibilities. And the sense of his not long to be delayed responsibility thrusts him back to again hangfully those truths which companionship with a mature mind might give him. And in the impact of this seeking for the best in each, each is not only a more responsible and a more sympathetic counsellor and guide, and the son realizes he is not only the male offspring of this man but is of the fibre of his very heart and soul and holds at his disposal the best of which the father is capable.

So, with the thought of the need, the place and purpose of this high relationship between Father and Son, the C.S.E.T. movement has been a very definite place in its development. During the month of February and March it set aside in which to foster the fellowship of Fathers and Sons. To many fathers this time is a time of real reconnection to the biggest job of their lives—that of upholding and outgrowing the life of a boy, and to the boys comes a realization that, though often preoccupied with business cares, Father has their best interests at heart, and a renewed trust is awakened and strengthened in the clarity of all the relationships of the boy and this man, his father, in the more faithful performance of their obligations to the home.

Not only are home relationships emphasized, but also Christian fellowship in the Church. That line in Longfellow depicting the village blacksmith going on Sunday to Church and sitting among his boys carries a punch neither than that delivered by the smith's muscular arms and hands on the hot red metal at the anvil. It is the unanswerable argument with those who would have you "do as I say, not do as I do."

Not only are public opportunities provided for in Church service and banquet for expression and development between Fathers and Sons, but encouragement is given to the more personal and private interchange of thoughts and ideas by means of likes and home visits. These are golden grounds affording priceless opportunities to each participant to make his contribution to that happy estate of perfect understanding between boys.

Much might be said of the details of the programme of activities during Father and Son Week. Suffice it to say that, while emphasis is laid on recognition of Fatherhood and Sonship and all they involve during the period of one week, this is to be taken only as an indication of the necessity and world-wide importance of an understanding between Fathers and Sons based on sympathetic fellowship with and deep respect to each other the whole year round, and from this achievement of the soul will flow out a real spirit of brotherhood, sublimating the best, the best and best of all human relationships, breathing good-will to man and honor to man's Maker.

When the blood is thin every organ of the body suffers. So anaemia shows in a hundred different ways and headaches as well as in loss of color and strength. The quickness with which a supply of rich blood will draw away all these pains and aches is shown by the result of treatment with this reliable blood-building tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. A friend of mine fully proved by the experience of Miss Alice Sandberg, Ogema, Sask., who says: "I can speak with the highest praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They have given me present good health. Last winter I was very weak, was pale and sickly looking. My back ached and I had severe pains in the stomach. At times my head ached and I would feel dizzy. Three Directors Issue Statement in Connection With Elevator Policy

Three directors of the Manitoba Wheat Pool, W. G. Weir, C. S. Stevenson and A. J. M. Poole issued a statement in connection with a statement of elevator policy recently made by Colin H. Barnell, president of the pool, and published in the Free Press of Jan. 12. The statement in part is as follows:

"The Free press of Jan. 13 contains a statement from Mr. Barnell carrying the heading, 'Pool Will Agree to Acquire Elevators.'"

"This statement was issued without consultation with the majority of directors of the Manitoba pool, and without authority from them."

"As the three members of the Manitoba pool board, our efforts for over two months have been directed to attempting to get the boards of the pool and the U.G.O. together to discuss frankly any differences of opinion that may exist."

"We believe more can be done in this way than by the boards sitting apart and each in their own meetings trying plans to put up to the other."

"The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are subject of debate in the United States today, and opponents of branch banking have stressed the advantages to local interests of having their banks under the hand of local men in situations, which are claimed to be more intimately in touch with conditions at the points concerned."

"Canada, however, the arguments in favor of branch banking are, in my opinion, immeasurably stronger than anything which can be said on the other side. In the development of new districts in this country the necessary funds have been supplied from outside districts, and at much lower average rates than those current in the United States at the same relative stage of development. The banking favoring the present situation, however, contains a long list of banks which have failed either through lack of proper perspective during boom periods, or because in districts where everything depends on the success of one crop or one industry, the local banks had all their eggs in one basket."

"I have no hesitation in saying that had Western Canada been served by unit banks the situation in 1922-23 would have been nothing short of calamitous."

"A most financial institution, such as The Royal Bank of Canada, covering the whole country, must have income, persistent and active interest in every part of Canada. Self-interest will prompt us to secure a diversity of risk through the encouragement of the industries indigenous to the various parts of our country, and to keep abreast of the fact that we can achieve the greatest measure of success only if our actions and policies promote and foster the best interests of every part of Canada."

Police making the rounds of their beats on rubber-tired roller skates will soon be seen in Dresden. The first roller skating class of 20 police has been started, a professional skater being employed as instructor.

Canadian Banks In Better Position To Serve Public

One of the most complete and authoritative statements ever submitted regarding the Canadian banking system was made by C. E. Neill, General Manager of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the annual meeting, Mr. Neill said in part:

"Through amalgamation, the number of banks in Canada has been slowly reduced to the present situation, which is analogous to the condition existing in the United States, where the great bulk of the banking assets of the country is in the hands of five large banks. There has been a corresponding reduction in the number of banks in the hands of the public, and the concentration of banking power in the hands of a comparatively few institutions may have led to results, such as a lack of competition or neglect of local interests."

"The freedom in regard to competition seems to have had its effect in the fact that what may be termed in the future, rather than as a result of developments to date, and no one can say that the competition between banks is less severe than it has in the past."

"We believe more can be done in this way than by the boards sitting apart and each in their own meetings trying plans to put up to the other."

"The merits of branch banking as compared with a system of unit banks are subject of debate in the United States today, and opponents of branch banking have stressed the advantages to local interests of having their banks under the hand of local men in situations, which are claimed to be more intimately in touch with conditions at the points concerned."

Very Gratifying Success Is Achieved By British Settlers Coming Under Assisted Scheme

It has been said that one of the factors which might become a serious stimulant to British immigration to Canada in 1926 and the years following would be the satisfaction and success achieved by those British families moved to the Dominion in the course of the present year to be assisted on terms under the assisted scheme of the Canadian Government. Through the terms of the Overseas Settlement Act, the Imperial and Canadian Governments entered into an agreement whereby three thousand families in the British Isles would be assisted on to Canadian farms. The colonists were to be provided on arrival with a farm which they would make their domicile, and this stocked with cattle, poultry and other stock, the price of these to be repayable by the settler in twenty-five equal yearly payments, with the first payment, no payment being asked until at least a year after settlement.

The scheme came into operation in 1925. Only families were accepted which, after careful investigation, were approved as suitable by the emigration agents of the Canadian Government. Farm homes were prepared for their occupancy before their arrival. No family, however, was permitted to operate a farm immediately upon arrival. Canadian experience was required, must be gained, and lands were leased to neighboring farmers for the current year, until the new family, housing, stables, garden and pasture. The farmer of the family and children of an adult were directed to employment in the immediate vicinity. The first families accepted under the scheme called for Canada in March, 1925, and also gathered during the first year approximately 500 families, numbering nearly 500 people, have come to Canada under its provisions.

Some extensive publicity has been given in the Dominion to the success of the wife of one of these British settlers who, after only four months' residence of the farm in Canada, secured all the first prizes for dairy products at the fair in a British Columbia town. In surveying the general experience of this first year of the British settlers, however, this is found to be not exceptional, but rather indicative of what has been accomplished in the brief period. First to arrive in Canada some twenty families expressed dissatisfaction, disaffection, or inability to proceed along the lines under the scheme, and turned their attention to activities other than farming. Of the total, 425 families, or 85 per cent. of all those who called in 1925, have definitely expressed themselves as happy and satisfied, and that they would stay.

A review of these simply narrated experiences, gathered together by the department of immigration and colonization, makes very convincing evidence to those who have found it a matter of deep regret that it has not been found possible in the past year to effect any great agricultural development in Canada along British lines. Such families as dropped out of the scheme, it was found, had not formed a proper conception of actual farm life in Canada. In several cases they did not realize that hard work was essential to success, or that a farm which could be purchased at a moderate price, with no payment down, with low interest, and at long terms, must necessarily be a modest establishment and not the highly developed place so frequently conceived as a typical Canadian farm home. The reviewer, taken altogether, goes to show that every one of the British families which set out to the right spirit, actuated by vision which permitted them to see the future result of present labors, has achieved an initial measure of success which is very gratifying to Canada and must be highly pleasing to themselves.

The Poor Forgotten

Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, thinks the late President Wilson might have left some of his millions to the poor rather than the whole estate to support an art gallery. There will probably be many who agree with his exclamation. No artist could ever perfectly transfer to canvas the real significance of a man's life. The poor, who are the heritage of rich and poor alike, but there are thousands who can't enjoy a pleasure when their stomachs are empty and every day seems to be going down. —Orlando, Kansas.

A woman can make a pile out of anything she wants to.

Bras As Human Food

Liberal Supply Necessary is Opinion of U. S. Doctor

Some of our food specialists think the average diet would supply all the food elements needed for health and bodily vigor if it contained a little more milk. The special reason for increasing the allowance of milk is to supply more line than the average man now gets. Dr. D. Breece Jones, of the United States department of agriculture, does not altogether agree. He advises a well chosen, varied diet, including more milk, more green vegetables, fruits and more cereals than is included in the diet of the average person.

For whole cereals he means cereals made from the whole berries of grains and including, therefore, a liberal supply of bran. If the bread one eats is poorer in bran than it ought to be, some of this food can be added to the cereal, either before cooking or before serving. In fine condition bran is a diet of bran alone. Bran is generally considered as a roughage and without food value. It is, however, a high rate diet bran well. Perhaps cereals and other ruminants digest it even better. It seems probable that man digests and assimilates bran, getting from it most of the food value added to that incorporated in the cellulose. In some of the varieties of bran are of the best quality.

Fine Flavored Cream

Absolute Cleanliness, Pure Water and Food is Necessary

In Bulletin No. 57 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Mr. W. F. Jones, chief of the division of dairy manufactures, gives "the conditions that are necessary to produce fine flavored cream. First is importance is absolute cleanliness in which is included clean and pure water and food. Any dirtiness or impurity in either affects the cream. Cows should have free access to salt at all times. Cleanliness of the animals is not only imperative but also that of the milker and of the utensils used. Garmented people, says Mr. Jones, are difficult to keep clean and their hands have been traced to their use. All utensils should be sterilized. Dairy houses should be fitted in tubular water, then washed in hot water containing a little washing soda, using a brush (not a cloth) on both the inside and outside. Followed, said thoroughly with boiling water and place the implements where they will drain and dry, preferably exposed to the sun. Use a new piece of clean cloth for straining after each milking or wash the used cloth thoroughly, and dry quickly. The new type, says our authority, consisting of a combination of wire mesh and absorbent material, lessens the danger of poor flavor.

Fish-Farming In Europe

Germany Goes In For This Industry On Large Scale

Great Britain is almost the only country where fish-farming is practically unknown.

It is true that there are excellent trout and salmon hatcheries, but these are run only for the sake of restoring waters for sport.

Germany goes in for fish-farming on a large scale, and before the war the Germans bought huge quantities of eelers, or young eels, in England. They raised them in ponds, and then sold them, and in four years they had seventeen million eels try from their own fish farms.

The most up-to-date eel farm in the world is at Nislen, on the Danish island of Zealand, where an artificial lake of nearly five hundred acres has been formed and stocked with eels. Pumps have been set up to pump the salt water from the bay close by into the lake, and a special passage is arranged with fresh water flowing out of it to attract the eels or young eels from the sea.

Disease of Modern Life

A Naugahyke annual clinic has been organized of civilized life. Dr. J. H. Hadfield told women sanitary inspectors at a meet in London. The speaker said his father had spent thirty years in the South Sea Islands without having ever heard any quarrelling among the native children.

Aid To Agricultural Industry

Forecast of Proposed Legislation in Speech From the Throne in Manitoba House

Legislation providing for special aid to the agricultural industry, a general pledge to encourage development of Manitoba's industrial and natural resources, creation of local government boards and curtailment of the horse racing season in the province, were outlined in the speech from the throne read by Lieutenant-Governor Alvens at the ceremonial opening of the fifth session of the seventeenth Legislature of Manitoba.

The agricultural aid schemes involve a survey of vacant lands of the province and encouraging of settlement upon such of these as can be economically developed. It is also proposed to utilize the provincial share of the Canadian wheat board surplus to work designed to promote more efficient marketing of farm products.

The three speech further indicated steps would be taken to obtain railway facilities for the mineral belt of Northern Manitoba while the introduction of a bill to make provisions of the Dominion Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907 applicable to industrial disputes within the province was forecast. Reference was made to proposed development freight rates and satisfaction was expressed for the general improvement in the business outlook in Manitoba.

Wolfe's Prophecy

General Who Won Canada For the British Had Faith in His Future

In view of the efforts being made to attract emigrants essential to the working out of Canada's industrial and political destiny, the following prophecy contained in a letter written by General Wolfe, sold at the Hotel de Ville, August 11, 1757, might not be without interest: "This country (Canada) will some time hence be a vast empire, the seat of power and learning. Nature has refused them nothing, and there will grow a people who will be the seat of power and learning. Nature has refused them nothing, and there will grow a people who will be the seat of power and learning. Nature has refused them nothing, and there will grow a people who will be the seat of power and learning."

John was very proud of the kitchen and brought them to show to the visitor. His mother called out: "Sure you don't hurt them, John."

"No, mother," came the answer. "I'm carrying them very carefully by the stems."

CARRYING YOUR HOTEL WITH YOU

Had anyone conceived the idea one hundred years ago of taking a pleasure trip in a motor machine, where you carried about not merely your trunk, but also your home, it would have been considered by the world as the wild wanders of an overwrought imagination. One day the impulsive wanderer is seized with the wander lust and he walks into a magic land, where he finds a magic stand, put his stick in the rack, stows his things in the wardrobe, bundles up his trunk, and sits down in his easy chair with a newspaper in his hand, a lighted pipe in his mouth and says easily, "Well, I guess we'll go to Japan."

For a while the traveler walks around the house, plays golf and tennis in the sunshine, dines, talks, plays with the waters of the Mediterranean.

Shrinkage of Cattle Enroute

Loss of Weight in Rail and Ocean Shipping

The superintendent (Mr. W. H. Fairfield), of the Leithbridge, Alberta, Dominion experimental station has been keeping tab on the shrinkage of cattle enroute to the coast. His records in his report for 1924 that fat cattle lose more than thinner cattle; that the short-keeps lost 25 lbs. per steer from Leithbridge to Moose Jaw, or 2.5 per cent.; that from Leithbridge to Winnipeg the loss per steer was 42 lbs. or 2.5 per cent.; and from Leithbridge to Montreal, 15 lbs. or 1 per cent. while the feeders on the loss from Leithbridge to Moose Jaw was 23 lbs. per head, or 2.5 per cent.; from Leithbridge to Winnipeg, 26 lbs. or 2.5 per cent.; and from Leithbridge to Montreal, 48 lbs. per head, or 5.4 per cent. During ocean travel the loss was very light. The short-keeps lost 26 lbs. per head, or 2.5 per cent. on the ocean and the feeders, 29 lbs. per head, or 2.4 per cent. The former sold in England at a total loss in weight of 98 lbs. per head, or 7.5 per cent., and the latter at a loss of 72 lbs. per head, or 5.8 per cent.

Mr. Fairfield points out that when it is considered that it is customary to sell cattle in Canada for so much per hundred lived on farm values, less 2 per cent. shrink, the shrink for which the animals sold in England was only 4.8 per cent. greater than this on the short-keeps and 2.8 per cent. on the feeders.

Money From Bees

Beeskeeping Proves to be a Profitable Line in Manitoba

Manitoba bee experts are becoming jubilant over the quality of the honey made in the province. Two men averaging two days a week each for labor during last summer, secured $4,000 from their hives. Miss Mary Shore, of Morris, reports that from three hives she secured 860 pounds of surplus honey, sold at 15 cents per pound. The Misses Elliott, of Coulter, Manitoba, students at the 1923 short course in beekeeping at the Manitoba Agricultural College, got 2,020 pounds from six hives, which they sold at 18 cents a pound. These are all farm girls, and they have demonstrated that beekeeping is a profitable side line to one having a little spare time.

Why the Jog On Correction Lines?

A Fundamental Geographical Truth That the Earth is Spherical

Every war-farmer, school teacher and student should be interested in the answer to the above question, for it embodies the fundamental geographical truth that the earth is spherical.

According to the topographical survey, department of the interior, of town, all north and south township and section lines are theoretically horizontal and therefore would meet at the north pole. From the base lines the meridional outlines of townships are surveyed 12 miles south of 24 miles north to the correction lines. Due to the convergence, the breadth of a township on the south side of a correction line is about 125 feet less and on the north side about 125 feet more than at a base line. This gives a jog on the correction line of about 240 feet at the west side, a range 1, or about 7,500 feet, that is over a mile, at a distance of 20 ranges from the township townships on a spherical surface over an extended area such as the prairie provinces. Here is an example of the practical use of the knowledge that the earth is spherical. And what better place is there for teaching geography than at home with a knowledge of the sections and quarter sections, townships and ranges, etc.

Townships are therefore not truly rectangular and it can be easily demonstrated that it is not practicable to fit rectangular townships on a spherical surface over an extended area such as the prairie provinces. Here is an example of the practical use of the knowledge that the earth is spherical. And what better place is there for teaching geography than at home with a knowledge of the sections and quarter sections, townships and ranges, etc.

When Europe gets to the point where it can point to international boundaries like that between Canada and the United States, which winds its way three thousand miles over lakes and prairies and mountains with uncertainty, it will be a great day for the world. That is only part of Europe's course, and the fortresses to be raised are only a small proportion of those it is raising and threatening against international borders.

But new fortresses are not being built for one reason because they have ceased to have much value. They are another and greater reason: that at this time it can be said, for the first time in recorded history, that the weight of the world's thinking is now toward peace instead of toward war. New fortresses are not being built, and some forts, such as the forts in Europe, are being dismantled. This is a great news for the world that needs just this kind of news so

Win World's Championship

Record of Canadian Birds in 1925

A Canadian tree-killed pen won the world's championship in all official contests held in 1925. Canadian birds had the highest in individual scores in the period. These records were made in the British Columbia contest conducted at the Dominion experimental farm, Agassiz, B.C., under the Canadian national egg-laying contest rules.

The championship pen which is owned by J. H. Mufford and Son, Milner, B.C., laid 2,865 eggs in 364 days.

The leading single bird is owned by the Dominion experimental farm at Agassiz, B.C., and laid 312 eggs in 312 days, while the second highest bird belongs to Partington Bros., Central Park, B.C., with 331 in 364 days.

Canada had 18 birds in the 1925 contest, all of which have official records in the government records. The egg-laying contest was conducted throughout the world and the annual experimental farm here announced the results of the various provincial departments of agriculture.

In Alberta it is planned to spend an entire day at each point. In Saskatchewan it is probable that two points per day will be covered.

Percy Reed Receives Appointment

The resignation of E. T. Lora, assistant secretary of the national dairy council, left a vacancy in the west which has now been filled by the appointment of Percy Reed of Regina, according to word received by A. G. McKinnon, Manitoba dairy commissioner, from Mr. W. A. R. Scott, secretary of the council. Mr. Reed was dairy commissioner for Saskatchewan up to 1914, when he was left to take a position with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries.

How Mayfair Was Named

Even among Londoners, many are ignorant of the derivation of the name Mayfair, the fashionable section of the Duke of York, second son of the King, has just taken up residence. The origin of the name lies in the fact that it was there that the annual "May fair" used to be held. The fair was done away with in 1708, but was subsequently revived, held here on the site until its final abolition in 1764.

The Woman: "I should have, your worship, but I wasn't there when he did it."

It's surprising how easy it is to get something you don't want.

It was related the other day in a special cablegram to The Herald from Oslo, Norway, that the Norwegian cabinet had just taken down all the fortresses that Norway had built along the Swedish border.

That is a naive example that ought to spread.

These symbols of enmity go down because enmity has passed out of the hearts of Swedes and Norwegians. They and that their old hatred was needless and foolish, and that they can live side by side as friends and both be much happier and far better off.

So, naturally, they do away with the forts and the forts that were the symbols of enmity. They and that their old hatred was needless and foolish, and that they can live side by side as friends and both be much happier and far better off.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor Review-Advertiser.

Dear Sir:—I have read Mr. Rioux's letter published in your issue of February 19, regarding the protecting of public health by the enactment of a by-law regulating the sale of milk.

In my opinion there isn't anything that would help the dairy trade of this town, both in the interests of the consumer and producer, as the enactment of such a by-law.

However, Mr. Rioux makes a reference to obtaining a test of the milk supplied at the public eating places as a proof of the need of such a by-law.

Such a test would not be fair to any producer. Such tests for quality as he refers to should be taken from the bottles, the milk being delivered, and not from the table of an eating house. Such tests, I believe, would be welcomed by any producer.

If Mr. Rioux, or anyone else, desires the pure, clean milk, I would advise him or them to buy it direct from those who make it their business to supply such a commodity.

Films of Royal Tour Are Very Interesting

(Calgary, Alberta)

Not only the immense popularity of the royal British prince—which as reached to every corner of the globe—but the scenes in Cambodia, the Gold Coast of West Africa, Sierra Leone, Nigeria, Cape Colony, the Transvaal and Rhodesia, as well as in the South American countries, Uruguay, Argentina and Chile, have an intense appeal to Canadians where all these countries are but names on the map, so that the pictures which depict every important incident of the Prince of Wales' tour proved to be exceedingly popular at the Regent theater last evening. Fancy seeing all the gatherings of notables and natives, while they are striving to impress his royal highness with their loyalty and importance. For the camera catches every move—even the wiping of a perspiring forehead in the heat—so that the pictures are in every sense an intimate view of the recent travels of the popular British prince.

Foolish Saving

A penny saved is not always a penny earned. Sometimes it is two pennies lost. The merchant who spends nothing on advertising loses much more than he saves.

The money spent for plate glass windows is not soaked on as lost; nor is the money spent on better interior lighting.

Anything that increases the favor, that adds to the number of customers is very properly regarded as a good investment.

Advertising is a good investment—just as plate glass windows are. Advertising sells more goods in more periods than shop windows do.

The United Church

"Judas Iscariot, the Traitor," will be the pastor's subject at the evening service in the United church, next Sunday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 o'clock. This is the first in a series of Sunday evening Lenten sermons on "People Who Bring Us Jesus to the Cross."

In the morning at 11 o'clock, Mr. Wedder's subject will be, "The Call of Christ," a timely and practical Gospel message. A cordial welcome for all at these services.

Sunday school meets each Sunday at 12:15, immediately following the morning service, the junior division in Harrison Hall, and the senior division in St. Andrew's church. A place for all, young or old, in our Bible school.

Don't miss the lecture on Wednesday evening next in St. Andrew's church, by the Rev. Geo. A. Dickson, B. A. of Knox church, Calgary. This will be the first opportunity many Clareholm people will have to hear this widely-known and popular Calgary minister. He will lecture on "The Holy Next Door." No tickets are being sold, but an offering will be taken up during the evening to meet all expenses, and the surplus will go to help the Young People's Association in their work.
